A Reconstructive Breakthrough

TO A FRUITFUL 2016

Palatable Prosperity

Grapes do seem to be particularly abundant throughout the course of New Year’s Eve. They fill our glasses and serve as bountiful edible decor. In many cultures, it is custom to eat 12 grapes by, or on the stroke of midnight to bring luck and prosperity to the new year. Although this might be superstitious to some, 12 grapes is an exceptionally sweet chance.

I’m willing to take in exchange of securing a prosperous 2016. Plus, I’m pretty sure one could argue a glass of wine or champagne (there’s approximately 120 grapes per glass of wine) is more than equivalent to the suggested intake. So go ahead; enrich both your life and palette this New Year’s Eve with the help of these delightful fruit berries.
